

GAME PROBLEM: ?

PANZERARMEE AFRIKA

JOHN SPENCE

It is the start of the Allies part of turn 7. Bardia has just fallen – some problems (!) in the first few moves led to a strategic advance to the rear. Things look black for the Allies ... or is it? All the units available to each side are shown in the set-up as are those that can be brought on in the next phase. The Italian units are conspicuous by their absence due to being grounded west of Tobruk. Is there any way that you can see of turning the tables on the Axis and gaining a respite for the Nile Delta?

Notes:

Command Control throw for turn 7 = 1
Supplies for the Axis are represented by two loaded trucks near El Agheila; otherwise the Axis network of supplies is intact but stretched.

Answer (or at least my attempt) in the next issue.
